BILL ODOM SETS 5,000 MILE RECORD FOR LIGHT PLANES

RENT CONTROL LEGISLATION HITS A SNAG

Filibuster in Senate Raises Doubt That There Will Be Any Action Before March 31 Deadline

TALKATHON UNHALTED

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—The House Appropriations committee today approved $135,000,000 to help states handle unemployment compensation programs.

The committee, noting an upward trend in jobless figures, voted this sum for the bureau of employment security for the year starting July 1.

The unemployment fund is one of the largest items in the $2,211,794,085 money bill the committee sent to the house floor for debate tomorrow. Other agencies aided by the bill are the labor department, federal security agency, national mediation board and railroad retirement board.

Legislation to keep rent controls 15 more months was cleared to the house floor today.

The rules committee, which decides what bills are to be taken up, okayed it. Debate probably will begin Thursday. A vote is likely Friday.

But the future still is clouded with doubt. The senate situation raises a question whether any action can be taken by March 31.

Meanwhile, the senate filibuster cast an ominous shadow on the fate of rent controls.

Legislation to curb rent increases will end March 31, about three weeks from now. President Truman asked for a two-year continuation.

The House last Friday voted to extend controls for 15 months. But the Senate also must approve, and it is in a tight spot.

House Republican leaders today talked of extending the law for 90 days. The law would be saved, and Congress could take "another look" at it in June, whip it into proper shape.

But others want a stronger measure, stronger even than the President's 24-month extension. Senator Myers (D-Pa.) went before the Senate banking subcommittee to urge approval of his 27-month bill. He has the backing of the CIO.

Whether the Senate will get an opportunity to act on rent controls depends on several factors, most important of which probably is the filibuster.

Southern senators, who launched the talkathon to block a motion leading up to curbing the filibuster legislation they oppose, square off as a minority weapon to block to talk a full day each from now on.

President Truman is insisting on a showdown on the rules change, but his own lieutenants concede privately they can't round up enough votes to win.

But today all will get a breathing spell. By agreement with the southerners, Senator Cain (R-Wash.) was given time for a lengthy attack on President Truman's nomination of Mon C. Wallgren as chairman of the National Resources Security Board.

The Senate armed services committee takes up the Wallgren matter, and a Republican-southern Democratic coalition was indicated forming to back Cain who will fire his guns in the Senate itself, probably taking up much of the day with his arguments.

If the coalition jells, Wallgren may face a Senate fight rivaling the 1946 battle over President Truman's nomination—later withdrawn—of Edwin W. Pauley for undersecretary of the navy. President Truman isn't likely to take the opposition lying down, associates say.

Cain contends Wallgren isn't capable enough for the post. Wallgren blames the opposition on politics.

Trouble brewed over another Truman appointment—that of James Boyd as head of the bureau of mines. Opposition from the United Mine Workers was so bitter it brought hints of a new nationwide coal strike.

Bulgaria Metes Out Prison Terms For Fifteen Church Heads Accused of Spying

Sofia, Bulgaria, March 8.—(AP)—Communist Bulgaria meted out prison terms today to 15 protestant churchmen accused of spying and black marketing. Four of the clergymen were sentenced to life imprisonment; the others received sentences of 1 to 18 years.

The ministers, called "squawking little rats" by a government press department paper, stood without outward emotion while the three judges announced the sentences. They all the defendants announced they were satisfied with the findings and would not appeal.

Vassil Ziakov, 48, the leading defendant, broke into tears again at the conclusion of the judges' reading.

Ziakov, a Congregationalist minister who is religious representative of the Protestant denominations, was sentenced to life, and in addition got terms of five years for spreading false rumors and 15 years for allegedly trying to incite against the government.

Also sentenced to life were Yanko Ivanov, Methodist; Nikola Naumov, Baptist, and Georgi Chernov, Pentecostal. The property of all four was confiscated and their civil rights were taken away.

Four defendants were sentenced to 18 years, three to ten years, one to seven years and eight months, one to five years and two to a single year.

All the ministers were accused of spying for the United States and Britain and of black market currency dealings. Ziakov also was accused of treason. All confessed at length, some with tears. Some begged for mercy and professed conversion to Communism.

The Moscow trained prosecutor, Dimitar Georgiev, had demanded death terms for each and long prison terms for 11 other churchmen on trial with them. All were accused of spying for the United States and Britain and of black market currency dealings. Ziakov also was accused of treason.

The four leading defendants were sentenced additionally to loss of civil rights and confiscation of all property.

Ziakov, the main defendant and religious representative of the Protestant denominations, was accused of leading an organized intelligence net for the two western powers. Added to his life sentence was a five year term on a count of spreading rumors about the country's economic life. He got also a 15 year sentence for alleged treason.

Cold Weather Is Relieving Flood Danger

By The Associated Press

Cold weather moved into the north central states today giving hopes to temporarily alleviating flood conditions in Iowa and Nebraska.

The mass of cold air from central Canada hit into North Dakota and northern Minnesota today, sending temperatures to as low as 10 below zero at Pembina, N. D. The chilly weather was expected to extend over the central section of the country and cold waves were forecast tonight for Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa.

Meanwhile, streams in Nebraska and Iowa spilled over their banks and forced hundreds of persons to flee from their homes.

Flood conditions were reported as "extremely critical" at Crete, a community of 3,038 in southeast Nebraska. Water from the rampaging Big Blue River overflowed several city blocks.

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—City council promises there'll be no indiscriminate cutting of trees in Greensburg. "Don't take the green out of Greensburg" was the plea of a group of 50 citizens who descended en masse on council last night. The citizens protested scheduled final passage of an ordinance which would have given the city fathers considerable leeway in removing trees. The ordinance was withdrawn.

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—The House last Friday voted to extend controls for 15 months. But the Senate also must approve, and it is in a tight spot.

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—Rep. Sol Bloom, who rose from a childhood of near-poverty to riches and world prominence, died suddenly last night.

The colorful New York Democrat, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee and a familiar figure in the nation's capital for almost 30 years, was stricken with a heart attack at the Naval Hospital in Bethesda, Md., almost on the eve of his 79th birthday.

The veteran lawmaker's death caught him at the top of a fabulous career. It included such varied pursuits as song-writing, acting, business enterprises—which reportedly made him a millionaire before he was 20—and finally a seat in congress and a position as one of the most prominent makers of American foreign policy.

Bloom was a man with many friends and few enemies. His death brought expressions of regret flooding from officials and the congressmen with whom he had served continuously for 27 years.

President Truman said he was "shocked and saddened" at the news and commented that the congressman from New York "will be greatly missed and widely mourned."

Bloom was born in Pekin, Ill., the son of poor Polish immigrants. Alarmed his parents handed him down by his mother, a Hebrew scholar. At the age of eight, after his family had moved to San Francisco, he found a job in a brush factory.

Some seventy years later he was to return to the Bay City as one of the founding fathers of the United Nations organization. In the intervening years he made his mark in many fields—but principally in show business.

He wrote the popular song "Coon, Coon, Coon," and—following the sinking of the battleship Maine off Cuba—"The Heroes Who Sank With the Maine," which sold millions of copies.

As a promoter at the Chicago World's Fair of 1893, he introduced sideshow freaks and musical comedians—for whom he composed extemporaneously the tune of the now-famous "Hootchy Kootchy Dance."

Remaining in Chicago, he built up a chain of eighty music stores and made a fortune publishing sheet music.

In 1910, then living in New York, he dropped all other business dealings to concentrate on real estate and construction.

In 1923, Bloom accepted the Democratic nomination for Congress in New York's 19th district, for many years a Republican stronghold. Bloom's district never went Republican again.

It was 1932 before the congressman from New York really achieved prominence in Congress. In that year, as head of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, he directed a vast publicity campaign which made the anniversary one of the most widely celebrated the nation had ever seen—and brought Bloom the title "Washington's press agent."

Youngsville Citizen Heart Attack Victim

A. M. Stickles, well known and highly respected citizen, of 216 Davis street, Youngsville, died suddenly of a heart attack about 10:30 p. m. Monday in the Odd Fellows Hall in Youngsville, where he had been spending the evening.

Albert Merton Stickles, the son of Jerry and Julia Stickles, was born in North Rose, N. Y., on November 11, 1879, and had lived in Youngsville since 1909. Prior to his retirement in 1945, he had been employed for a number of years by the National Forge and Ordnance Company at Irvine.

He was a member of the Youngsville Episcopal Mission; of Warren Lodge, No. 241, F. and A. M.; of Warren Commandery No. 63, Knights Templar, and of Coudersport Consistory; also of the Brotherhood of the Moose, and of the Youngsville Grange. He was a member and past grand of Youngsville Lodge, No. 500, IOOF, and a member of the Past Grands Council of that fraternity.

He leaves one sister, Mrs. Albert Tindall, of Auburn, N. Y.; four daughters, Mrs. Ivan Warner, (Turn to Page Six)

President At Winter Park To Receive College Degree

Orlando Air Force Base, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—President Truman landed at 10:29 a. m. today en route to Winter Park to receive a degree at Rollins College.

The president, traveling in the "Independence" from his vacation retreat at Key West, was met by an official delegation which included Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins.

The 64-year-old chief executive, a graduate of the Independence, Mo., high school and later a night law student at Kansas City University, who never found time to complete the course, will receive another in a long series of degrees.

As Record Flight Began

Wearing his famed "good luck suit," Bill Odom waves goodbye as he climbs into the cockpit of his light plane, "Walkiki Beech," at Honolulu, T. H., for his non-stop flight to Teterboro, N. J. Less than 17 hours later, the 29-year-old record-smasher flew over San Francisco's Golden Gate.

GOP Dominated Committee May Break Jam On Duff's $438,000,000 Tax Program

Harrisburg, March 8.—(AP)—The Republican-dominated senate finance committee today may break the log-jam on Gov. James H. Duff's $438,000,000 tax program.

Hanging in the balance was the controversial soft drink levy—target of bitter and sustained attacks from beverage and supply makers.

A bi-partisan subcommittee readied recommendations for tax substitutes for pop tax but GOP leaders held to the oft-repeated stand that the administration tax measures will emerge from committee essentially as the house passed them February 15.

They indicated that the 11 Republicans and four Democrats on the committee will be unable to agree on any substitute despite the reported unpopularity of the soft drink levy with some committee-men.

And administration forces were counting too on the firm backing of Duff for the taxes as approved by the lower branch.

Meanwhile, these other key proposals came up in senate committee:

House-passed legislation to create state building and highway and bridge authorities to finance $187,000,000 in institutional and highway construction by long-term bonds.

Controversial proposals to limit the taxing powers of thousands of municipalities and school districts under the 1947 local tax law.

An administration plan to establish a new $4,000,000 eastern psychiatric institute in Philadelphia for the study of mental disorders.

In the house, Republican leaders brought to a vote bills to tighten up the enforcement provisions of the state's weights and measures laws. Also on the list for passage is a $10,600,000 appropriation to keep public assistance operating until the end of the two-year fiscal period on May 31.

Taxes, however, still overshadowed all other issues.

With the controversial gasoline tax increase already approved by another committee, the senate finance committee convened at noon behind closed doors to thrash out the soft drink tax controversy.

And caught in the backwash of the tax dispute was the question of freeing Pennsylvania's 10 last remaining privately operated toll bridges.

Sen. George N. Wade (R-Cumberland), embroiled in a verbal fight with the governor over taxes, abandoned any hope of sponsoring administration bills on toll spans and introduced some measures on his own.

Body Of Pittsfield Soldier Is En Route

Word comes from Pittsfield that Allen M. Irvine has been advised that the body of his brother, Pfc. Martin O. Irvine, is en route home from France for final rites and reinterment.

Pfc. Irvine was killed in action on French territory on August 23, 1944, and has been temporarily buried in St. James' cemetery.

Besides the brother, he leaves three sisters, Mrs. Mildred Whitely, Corry; Mrs. Myrtle Bettas and Mrs. Doris Andress, of Erie; also 12 nieces and nephews.

Announcement concerning services in his memory will be made as soon as definite word is received concerning the time of arrival of his body from the distribution center.

Battle Over Appointment May Stir Nationwide Coal Strike

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—The battle over appointment of James Boyd as head of the Bureau of Mines today stirred apprehensions of a new nationwide coal strike.

The strike hint was voiced by John Owens, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers. He spoke with the support of John L. Lewis, although the miners' chief did not appear before the senate interior committee this time to oppose the Boyd appointment. Lewis' opposition was enough to block confirmation since 1947.

Lewis objected because Boyd never worked in a coal mine. Boyd supporters, including Secretary of Interior Krug and Senator Anderson (D-NM), said this wasn't essential. Boyd is a former dean of the Colorado School of Mines and an acknowledged expert in geology and minerals.

Owens said that Boyd, as head of the Bureau of Mines, would be responsible for the safety of coal miners.

And he said these miners "soon might become angry and impatient at the failure to correct old complaints arising from mining conditions."

This led to speculation about how "soon" such a demonstration might be expected.

The anniversary of the Centralia Mine disaster of 1947 is less than three weeks away. Lewis called a six-day "memorial" stoppage after that Illinois disaster to spotlight the dangers of coal mining. It was after that explosion, which took 111 lives, that Boyd was first appointed by President Truman.

The present contract between the UMW and the soft coal operators expires June 30. Negotiations of a new agreement probably will begin about May 15 or June 1. But there is more than 70 days' supply of coal already mined and stored above ground. This is due partly to dwindling markets and partly to the mild winter.

Flood Control Bills Lauded by Chapman

Harrisburg, March 8.—(AP)—Sen. LeRoy E. Chapman (R-Warren) chairman of the Senate appropriations committee, says a proposal for extensive flood control work in northern Pennsylvania is "a very commendable project."

A measure sponsored by Sen. James Berger (R-Potter) would allocate $300,000 to the Department of Forests and Waters for projects in McKean, Potter, Tioga counties.

"There is no doubt about it, there has been lots of damage caused in those counties by floods," Chapman said. "I think repairs ought to be made and steps taken to prevent future conditions."

But Chapman added, no action on the measure will be taken at present. Appropriation bills are usually the last to reach the Senate for a vote.

Plans Are Launched For Big Celebration In The Borough Over Fourth Of July Period

At a meeting held last evening in the Times-Mirror office attended by ten members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, over a half dozen members of the Citizens' Celebration Committee and two representatives of the Warren Aviation Club it was unanimously decided to promote a four-day celebration in Warren in connection with the forthcoming Independence Day observance.

A tentative program as discussed by the group, and which will doubtless be adopted later, with some additions, provides for a band concert and perhaps some athletic event Friday evening, July first; a Boy Scout pageant, commemorating the 200th anniversary of the visit of Capt. Bienville de Coluron, and 215 French soldiers to this area, on Saturday, July 2nd; a gigantic air meet followed by a sacred concert Sunday, July 3rd, winding up with an old-fashioned Independence day parade, on the morning of the Fourth, with drum corps competition in the afternoon at the War Memorial Field, and mammoth display of fireworks in the evening.

"Chuck" Tranter, president of the Jaycees, was present with his celebration committee, consisting of Harry Schmidt, Jack MacDonald, Clifford Graham, Palmer Davis, Kenneth Carlson, Ted Stathakis, and Jim Lucke. Among interested Warren business men who have been associated with similar celebrations in previous years who were present were Wally Pettit, George Sarvis, Louis Frederickson, Homer Fitch and Ed Lowrey. Robert Schwartz and "Sig" King were representing the Aviation Club. A large number of others who were unable to be present because of previous engagements, sent word that they enthusiastically supported the proposal and may be counted upon to help put it over.

The meeting opened with Mr. Tranter taking over as temporary chairman and inviting all to express their sentiments regarding the proposed celebration. Mr. Pettit reported that he had just come from a meeting of the Retail Merchants of the Chamber of Commerce, and brought with him 100 percent endorsement of the plan, with pledges of cooperation in every way.

Tentative plans for the pageant and air show were discussed at length and will be worked out in detail at later meetings after committees have been appointed.

A motion was made placing the group on record as favoring the tentative plans for the celebration and adopted unanimously. Later the group chose Ed C. Lowrey of the Citizens' Committee, and Jack MacDonald, of the Jaycees, as co-chairmen for the celebration.

Special mention was made of plans for celebrations in both Sheffield and Clarendon during the Fourth of July period, and it was the hope of those present that programs can be worked out between the communities so as to eliminate as far as possible conflicts in the time of staging of the major events.

The unusual enthusiasm displayed by all present justifies the prediction that Warren, this year, will have a Fourth of July celebration that will measure up in every way with many such programs staged in the past.

School Board Debates Plans For Buildings

Addition of the proposed four-room annex at the Home Street school building is assured as a result of action taken at last night's meeting of the board of education, when members entered into a contract with the firm of Lawrie and Green, Harrisburg, to act as architects in preparing plans for the project.

Also considered by the board at this month's meeting was a report on the financial condition of the school district from the standpoint of financing a building program, and particularly in the matter of issuing bonds for coverage of the proposed expenditures.

These reports showed, according to a school official, that sufficient funds will be available to carry through on the Home Street annex and the proposed elementary building which will be erected on the site of the present A. Bessie Johnson school to replace existing Johnson and South Street structures.

Another important action taken last night was approval by the board of the application of Coneywango township to send its seventh and eighth grade students to Beatty Junior High School with the beginning of the fall term. This permission was given subject to the need to accommodate the district's own pupil load.

Dr. Carl Whipple, assistant superintendent, went into some detail in his report on results of the Progressive Achievement tests recently given, showing that once again Warren students are above norms in practically every subject tested. He also spoke of the speech clinic which is being conducted and will run through two more sessions.

WARMEST WINTER IN THIRTY-NINE YEARS

Pittsburgh, March 8.—(AP)—The weather man confirmed a lot of opinions today by reporting western Pennsylvania has had less snow this winter than in 30 years.

Only 13 7/10 inches of snow were counted in Pittsburgh this winter, compared to an average fall of 34 inches. The all-time record was set during the winter of 1918-19 when only 8.3 inches were reported. Forecaster Henry Rockwood added: "If the weather continues moderate this also will be the warmest winter in 39 years."

Refunds On Income Taxes Set Record

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—Refunds for overpayment of 1948 income taxes already have hit a 2,000,000 a week clip. They're averaging about $50 each.

It's a record for speed, officials said today, pointing out that the deadline for filing 1948 income tax returns is still a week off.

The hot prospect for a refund—four out of five taxpayers are likely to get them—induced the early return-filing that made such early refunding possible.

Officials don't know exactly how many of the $5,000,000 in refunds were filed early. It's estimated, however, that some 10,000,000 already have drawn around $500,000,000 in refunds.

Some officials guess that perhaps 40,000,000 taxpayers will end up with refunds amounting to something like $2,000,000,000, biggest reverse tax-money flow of the kind in history.

Cut In Milk Prices In Erie And Pittsburgh Areas Looms

Harrisburg, March 8.—(AP)—The State Milk Control Commission may post orders today cutting the minimum retail price one and one-half cents a quart in Pittsburgh and Erie marketing areas.

Chairman H. N. Cobb said some changes may be made in the tentative orders dropping the retail price from 22 to 20 1/2 cents a quart and reducing the producer price 60 cents a hundredweight (46 1/2 cents) effective March 15.

The present Pittsburgh producer price is $6.03 a hundredweight and $5.75 for Erie.

Meanwhile, the commission issued a statement that the threat of a legislative investigation would not have any influence on its findings as it drew up the final orders for the seasonal price slash.

LANKY PILOT IS IN THE AIR BUT 36 HOURS

Exact Mileage of Long Distance Hop Awaits Official Check of Sealed Instruments

GIVEN BIG WELCOME

Teterboro, N. J., March 8.—(AP)—Big Bill Odom soared in from Honolulu shortly after noon today setting a 5,000 mile world's non-stop record for light planes.

The 29-year-old former World War II ferry pilot, already holder of the world-circling speed record, touched down his tiny monoplane at this north Jersey airport at 12:06 p. m., 36 hours and one minute after leaving Honolulu.

It was Odom's second attempt to bring his single engine, 185-horsepower plane non-stop from Honolulu to Teterboro, which is about four miles west of New York City across the Hudson river.

He carried 288 gallons of gasoline.

The exact mileage of the long distance hop awaits an official check of his sealed instruments, but flight sponsors estimated it between 4,999 and 5,010.

Odom streaked over the field at 12:05 p. m., exactly 36 hours after taking off at Honolulu.

He circled the field, then came in for a perfect landing.

The lanky pilot taxied his Beechcraft Bonanza "Walkiki Beech" along the runway, stopping at a hangar.

His plane was followed by an ambulance and two fire trucks. Hundreds of persons immediately swarmed around the plane as Odom brought it to a stop at 12:09 p. m.

A bright sun shone through and there was a crisp northwesterly breeze as Odom swooped on to the field. To the east New York's towering skyscrapers were clearly visible.

Odom hopped out of the plane and crouched on the right wing for pictures and well-wishing handclaps.

The pilot was hatless when he emerged from the plane's door but quickly put on the grey Homburg which he wore when he left Honolulu.

His first comment:

"I feel just like a business man, coming home on an easy trip. The only trouble I had was over the Rocky Mountains, where I had some bad weather."

"Once I let my tank go dry while I was making a recording here in the plane, and I found my engine went dead."

Activities Of The C. of C. Thirty Years Ago Recalled

The Warren Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular monthly meeting of the board of directors on Friday, March 11 at 12:10 p. m. at the Carver Hotel.

The new secretary of the Chamber, Henry Cundy, being of an inquisitive turn of mind, has dug into the records of the Chamber and has come up with the following facts:

Exactly thirty years ago to the day, March 11, 1919, the board of directors met in solemn session to decide who should be the officers of the board for the ensuing year.

Those present were H. A. Logan, L. Schellhammer, W. H. Allen, A. Arnold, K. M. Andrews, A. Bruntz, H. P. Stone and U. G. Lyons. It appears that Mr. Logan was named as president of the Chamber in spite of his protests. Messrs. Allen and Craft were unanimously elected as vice presidents. F. Quinn was appointed as secretary and J. G. Hill was named as treasurer. And so it went, all through the meeting it was as though the same group would be sitting together next Friday because each one had the interest of Warren in his hand. It was resolved that the stenographer should be paid $75 per month. Well, $75 was $75 in those days.

One of the features of the meeting was the reading of a telegram from a Clyde P. Steen, evidently of a speaker at a later date. The telegram might be of some interest to our readers because it refers to a subject which has been in the forefront of the news for the last few years.

Duff Making Keynote Talk For Foresters

Governor James H. Duff will call upon all Pennsylvanians to protect their state's forest heritage from fire, when he makes the keynote address before the "Keep Pennsylvania Green" meeting at the Penn Harris Hotel, Harrisburg, Friday morning, March 11.

Announcement of the program for the meeting was made today by Samuel A. Custer, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Forestry Association, sponsors of the program to reduce this state's annual losses from forest fires.

Immediately after his speech, the governor will be presented with the 1949 Pennsylvania Forestry Association Conservation Award in recognition of his outstanding leadership in the field of conservation.

O. Ben Gipple, director, Bureau of Forests, Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters will serve as chairman of the morning session starting at 10:45 a. m.

Representatives from each of the state's 67 counties are expected to attend. Mr. Custer announced. He also stated the public was cordially invited to attend all sessions.

Robert A. Harrier, managing director of the Lehigh Valley Flood Control Council, Bethlehem, will be chairman of the afternoon session starting at 2 p. m. Included on the afternoon program are H. B. Rowland, chief, division of protection, Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, Harrisburg; George Wirt, consulting forester; Camp Hill, P. H. Glatfelter, president, P. H. Glatfelter Company, Spring Grove. Several other outstanding advocates of a continued forest fire prevention campaign will also appear on the program.

That evening a banquet, presided over by H. Gleason Mattoon, president of the Pennsylvania Forestry Association, will be held in the Penn-Harris hotel starting at six p. m. Featured as speakers of the evening will be Robert R. Lewis, president judge, Fifty-fifth Judicial District, Coudersport, and Lloyd E. Partain, manager, Commercial Research Division, Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia.

The annual business meeting of the Pennsylvania Forestry Association will convene on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and will feature a panel discussion of the current programs and policies of the association. Reginald Forbes, consulting forester, Ambler, will act as moderator. Officers of the association will be elected for the current year at this meeting.

One of the most prized aids to home builders is an electric lock mortiser that reduces mortising time by as much as 80 per cent. It eliminates the time-consuming measurement of the cut to be made at each door.

"Sock Hop" Is Planned By Phalanx Frat

Primus Dick Bean was in charge of the regular meeting of Pi Beta Chapter, Phalanx Club, held at the YMCA at 8 p. m. Monday, when the principal business dealt with the "Sock Hop" plans for Saturday night.

The affair is to be held at the YM on Saturday night of this week, along with a mixed swim period. The committee chairman announced plans in general and read the names of members who will be assigned to specific committees.

Stan White, pro-primus, called for several committee reports and Dick Bean announced that two local clubs have offered to donate money to help with the proposed Sock Hop Hunt. Further discussion of this project was tabled, however, until after the Saturday night party.

Members of the club voted to purchase sweaters having the Phalanx emblem on the pocket and the letter "P", with Pi Beta written on it, as a chest decoration.

"Physical Relations of God And Man" Is Theme of Paper

Ivan Brumagin, sales engineer at Struthers-Wells, presented the Social Science Section with a thought-provoking paper on the topic "Physical Relations of God and Man" at the March meeting.

He began by saying that modern thinkers insist we equalize the knowledge of human behavior and social relations with the more rapidly increasing knowledge of natural phenomena.

He quoted from a paper, "We Need New Words and a New Faith," by Raymond E. Fosdick, printed in the New York Times magazine last December. The writer regrets that with the onset of new technological advance the dictionary of 50 years ago shows a very noticeable failure to supply the words and terms in keeping with this advance. But with all the increase of technological vocabulary, there is a very evident dearth in vocabulary relating to the order of social control.

There is amazing disproportion between our development of science and engineering on the one hand, and our knowledge of human behavior and social relations on the other. Man's curiosity and ingenuity have led to sources of physical power by which, unless ethical and social restraints can be discovered, he will blow himself and his institutions into final dust.

The speaker quoted from T. Keith Glennan, "Technical knowledge alone... is not sufficient to make a man valuable or satisfied either in business, political, or social life," and from Admiral Lewis L. Straus. The scientist or engineer trained only in his particular segment of a discipline... no matter how well trained... is not a whole man." Oliver E. Buckley says, "The engineer in world affairs must gain experience with human problems as they have learned to deal with physical problems. Powerful as the engineer has been in giving man control over the forces of nature, and thereby upsetting social organization, he has rarely been a leader in exploiting his own wares. Is it not possible that team work among physical and social scientists might unravel some of our complex social and economic problems?"

These are the thoughts of our educational, industrial, and technical leaders all of whom admonish the engineer to help somehow solve the problems of human relations.

If we would rediscover that which actuates and constrains man, we must isolate and investigate what is known of that phenomena peculiar to man, from which he derives the forces which we seek to know and subdue.

The essential distinction in man is that he has a mind and soul. These are the human forces, the sciences of which are psychology and theology. Scientific research has not revealed what the natural forces are, nor what causes them. There are such forces and they act in accord with certain principles. The physical scientist has no more firm foundation of fact in his area than the social and theological scientist has in the area of the human and the spiritual. They, too, actually know that there are human and spiritual forces; that they act according with certain principles, and that man's growth in the knowledge of these principles has increased his power to subdue mankind. From time immemorial man has searched for knowledge of the spiritual.

The speaker then attempted to examine some of the teachings of the science of theology through the eyes of an engineer. With the Story of Creation in Genesis we read of God starting with the materials of his creation, and how the physical and chemical forces operate to give shape and form to an orderly universe. Mr. Brumagin then tried to show by diagrams both the theological and scientific versions of matter constrained by the natural forces to provide the perfect balance necessary to God's perfect Creation.

God then made man in His own image and endowed him with those human attributes necessary to the purpose for which man was intended. To accomplish God's purpose in man, man must know, strictly adhere to, and properly coordinate the principles of governing these forces. To subdue the earth involves, first, that man control matter and the physical forces pertaining to it, and second, that man control himself.

We have enough new words. We need to re-affirm the meaning of the old words and reconcile them with the new. May we renew the old Faith, and find the supplementary principles and disciplines that make us "whole men", engineers of the several sciences, physical, social, and spiritual.

Penelec Will Have Safety Essay Contest

As part of a program to keep employees of Pennsylvania Electric Company continually aware of the importance of good safety practices, a safety essay contest has been announced by the Accident Prevention department according to J. F. Fenstermacher, local district manager.

Cash prizes totaling $350 will be awarded to employees, who, in the opinion of the judges, write and send in the best essays in 50 words or less on "How I can best contribute to the safety of myself and fellow employees." The contest will close March 26.

Penelec in 1948 had its best safety record in an eleven year period with a system lost-time accident frequency rate of 5.75 per million manhours worked compared to 8.67 for 1947, a decrease of 34%.

According to Mr. Fenstermacher Penelec is doing everything possible in 1949 to improve on last year's safety record.

The safety essay contest is one of several activities planned during the year to keep employees safety conscious. A General System Safety Committee has been formed of fourteen representatives of the Operating and Production departments to work closely with the Accident Prevention department in promoting safe working procedures.

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Salute 4-H Clubs—Pennsylvania, along with the rest of the United States, is observing National 4-H Club Week, March 5 to 11. It formally marks the start of another year of 4-H Club projects. Last year Pennsylvania enrolled 23,801 club members while the whole country had 1,800,000 in agriculture and homemaking.

Ventilate Dairy Barns — Cow comfort pays at the milk pail. Proper ventilation is recommended by C. H. Bingham, extension agricultural engineer of the Pennsylvania State College. Stables too warm can be as injurious as those too cold. The preferred winter temperatures range from 40 to 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

Cut Operation Costs—Efficient and economical operations in making maple syrup and sugar are in-perative, says F. T. Murphey, extension forester of the Pennsylvania State College. One-third to a half of the production costs are in labor. A high-quality sugar bush and labor-saving equipment will help cut costs.

Blizzards Hit Beef — Fewer stocker and feed cattle will be available for the feedlots next winter because of losses in the western blizzards, reports W. F. Johnson, Penn State extension agricultural economist. Feedlots now have largest number in 19 years.

Spray Pasture Garlic — Control of garlic in pastures can be achieved by spraying in March or early April with the ester form of 2, 4-D, 1 to 2 pounds of actual 2, 4-D per acre, according to G. H. Berggren, Penn State extension agronomist.

Use Limestone—Pulverized limestone is recommended by J. O. Dutt, Penn State extension garden specialist, for use on the seedbed where young plants are to be grown. Test the soil for lime needs.

MORE "ELBOW GREASE" EVIDENT

"The nation's workers are putting more elbow grease into their jobs these days." That is how the Wall Street Journal sums up the result of its countrywide survey of industry. In mining, lumbering and manufacturing, both light and heavy, employers report that individual efficiency and productivity are approaching the prewar level, and in some cases have attained it.

Various reasons are advanced: greater selectivity in hiring is now possible; more experienced workers are back at their old jobs; new workers are becoming seasoned; fear of layoffs and cutbacks is spurring workers to greater effort. Better machinery, better employee relations, and incentive systems are also mentioned as stimulants to higher production.

This is not surprising news. The sellers'-market honeymoon is drawing to a close for employees as well as employers. High costs and easing demands call for a general tightening up. Supply has caught up with demand in the labor market, too. There is now competition for jobs as well as for markets.

But this news, though not surprising, may arouse indignation in some quarters. It will be argued that there must be no insecurity of employment, which of course is essentially correct. It should be the goal of our business community and, if necessary, of our government that everyone who wants to work has a chance to work and a chance for advancement. That is as much to the interest of the manager as the worker.

But that should not mean that unions or government becomes so protective as to put no premium on zeal and ability. It should be no excuse for feather-bedding. For security without effort leads to stagnation.

That may seem like an old-fogeyish argument. But America's industrial pre-eminence is due in no small part to the fact that there has been a close relationship between a worker's industry and his reward. That relationship has not always been unclouded by prejudice and discrimination. Yet, in comparison with other countries, America has always offered a social atmosphere of remarkable freedom and incentive.

Many barriers to fair-dealing and opportunity for the worker have been removed in the past few years. Some of those gains were made in the unnatural business conditions of wartime. Since the two did not naturally separate themselves, it is not surprising that some of the newer members of our labor force got the idea that the acquisition of new rights and the discarding of old responsibilities were part of the same pattern.

We are confident that the American people will not permit labor's rightful gains to be destroyed. At the same time it is well that the old idea of an honest day's work for a decent day's pay is being revived. For that is one of the foundation stones of our material greatness. The work day has been shortened and the pay increased, but the basic relationship of responsibility to reward should not be forgotten.

All signs point to another good run of sap when the present cold snap lets up.

LENTEN SERMONETTE

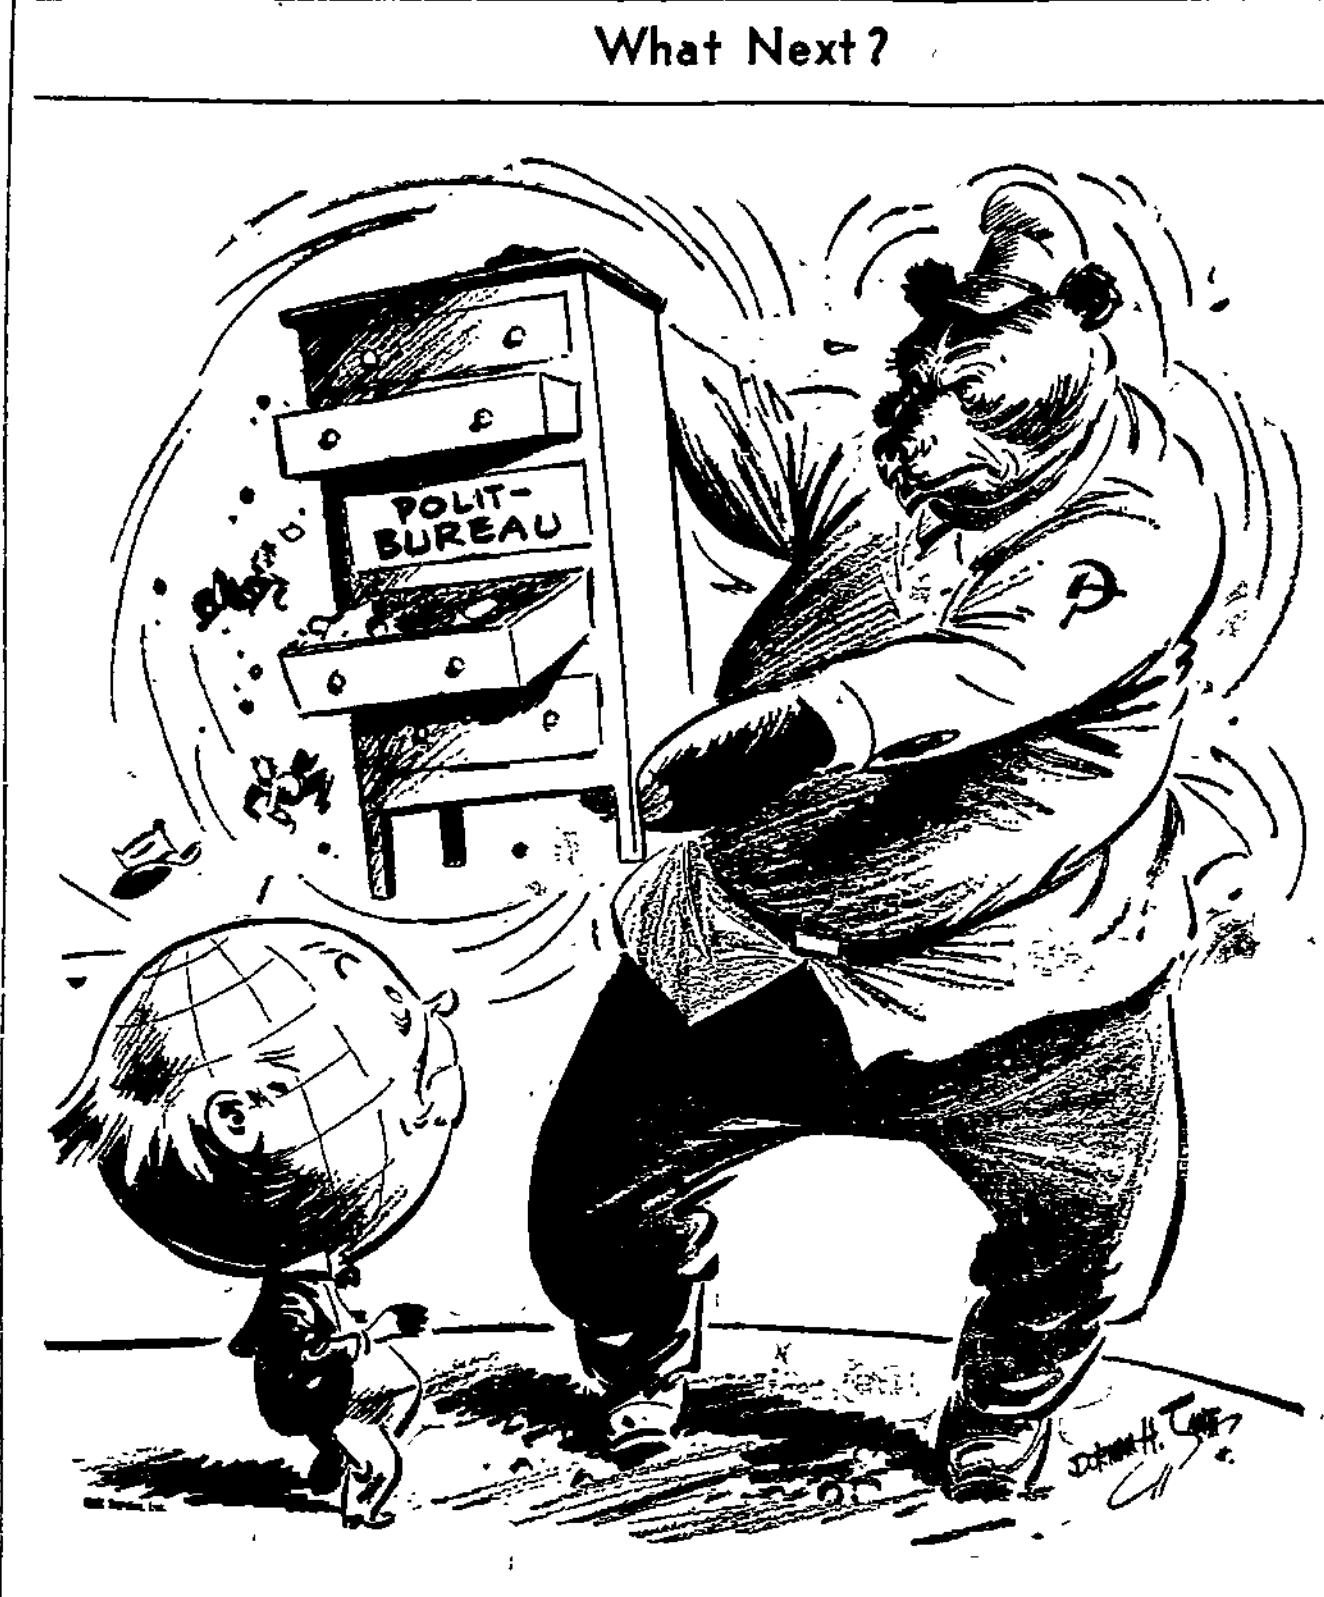

The Rev. James Kelly, Epworth Methodist Church

THE CROSS

The Cross is the central symbol of the Christian faith representing all that the sacrificial life and death of our Lord Jesus Christ means to us. The truths that it stands for have often been misunderstood through the use of strong metaphors that early Christians employed to express their conviction that Christ suffered for them. They said of him that he was our "ransom," our "propitiation," our "sacrifice," our "price," and so on. Men have reasoned thus: If Christ was our "ransom" to whom was the ransom offered but God? If he was our "propitiation," who but God needed to be propitiated? If he was our "sacrifice," who but God demanded the sacrifice? If he was our "price," to whom but God did the price need to be paid?

Such reasoning has produced for many people a completely distorted picture of God. It makes Him to be vengeful, harsh and cruel. It means that God will not forgive until his wrath has been appeased, His honor satisfied, His justice vindicated. Even a casual knowledge of Christian thought, ritual and hymnology reveals the influence of such abortive ideas on Christian people.

If we are to avoid such misunderstanding and make the Cross a true symbol of our faith, we must view it in the light of God's Fatherly goodness and love. It is true that Christ suffered for us and that His sufferings were a necessary part of His redemptive ministry. But it is not true that they were necessary to change God's attitude toward us. "God so loved the world"—loved, not hated—"that He gave His Son." This has always been His attitude toward men. It is through Christ's sacrificial life and death—symbolized by the Cross—that the meaning of God's love is made plain.

Here And There

Here's an item from the Mirror of fifty years ago today that provides figures for interesting comparison concerning the work of the Warren General Hospital today as compared with 1898 and 1899: "The board of managers of the Emergency Hospital held the annual meeting March 6. The officers elected to serve until next January are: Mrs. C. W. Jamieson, president; Mrs. Charles Schimmelberg, vice president; Mrs. J. P. Jefferson, treasurer; Mrs. D. W. Beatty, recording secretary; Miss Fannie Smith, corresponding secretary. The president's report contained the following statistics in regard to the work done at the hospital: Number of patients in hospital March 1st, 98; 4; March 1st, 99, 5; number of deaths during the year, 3; number treated during the year, 82; number of days of hospital care, 1,841; number of patients admitted, 88. To Mrs. Miller, superintendent, and nurse, for the greater part of the year, much of the success of the work is due. At present Miss H. Wishart, a graduate of Hamot Hospital, is superintendent, and Mrs. Hattie Keller, assistant. The year's work closes successfully and the outlook for the coming year is hopeful."

Potpourri: "March of Time," one of the shorts appearing at the Library theater, is a tribute to the United States Postal Service and is a film well worth seeing, along with the feature, "Every Girl Should Be Married," starring Cary Grant, a light and refreshing comedy that is a welcome change from the menu of mystery thrillers. . . . It's been disclosed that lithium chloride, the salt substitute which is believed to have poisoned scores of persons in the country, was tested on only ten rats before it was allowed on the market. The chemical, which was being sold under three or four trade names, has been withdrawn completely. . . . "National 4-H Club Week," which formally marks the beginning of another year of 4-H Club projects, is being observed this week in Warren county as well as other portions of the nation. Last year Pennsylvania enrolled 23,801 club members while the whole country had 1,800,000 in agriculture and homemaking, according to State College figures. . . . The Bradford Aviation Commission at a meeting last week authorized the drafting of engineering plans for runway lights at the Bradford-McKean County Airport, Mt. Alton. Cost of the lighting has been unofficially estimated at $50,000. . . . Labeling the bills "inadequate" Crawford county Farmers grangers last week recommended by unanimously passed resolution, scrapping of all fourteen school bus safety measures now in committee in the state senate and house, and starting all over again. . . . Jamestown merchants are planning their annual tour of the sugar bushes of the area. This year the merchants have invited ladies to participate in the trip, which will start shortly after noon, the date depending on the "sap run." While producers enjoyed a breathing spell due to the cold snap, they report that the period has brought in one of the best sap runs ever experienced. Some producers have already boiled down more than half of their total output of last year. They say it requires 48 gallons of sap to produce one gallon of syrup. . . . Woodchucks in the area have evidently been out taking another look around to see where their February forecast went wrong. Mrs. Fred Palmquist, Route 4, Centerville, reports that she saw one last Friday running around the yard in a nearby farm. . . . It is reported a mile east unit installed in a truck recently covered part of the Tionesta area in efforts to determine how well television can be received in those parts. It was determined that the receptivity of the section on top of Smoky Hill is excellent. Tests inside the borough of Tionesta were not undertaken until too late in the afternoon. . . . March 12, Girl Scouts of America will observe their 37th birthday. With a membership of 1,384,864 and an ever growing list, the Girl Scouts are the world's largest organization for girls from seven to 17. Though Girl Scouting is international in scope, it is at the same time peculiarly American in its aims and accomplishments. It teaches girls to live, work and play together harmoniously, regardless of race or creed. Its "learn through fun" approach reaches out to young people and makes them feel that they "belong."

Kaiser Boys Get Answers to Pertinent Capital Questions

BY PETER EDSON
NRA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Chad Calhoun, vice-president in charge of the Washington office for Kaiser Co. interests, has circulated among capital newsmen a dozen highly embarrassing questions. Unfortunately, there is no space to give them all here. But the general purport is to raise suspicions that there is a great split in President Truman's official family of advisers on economic policy.

There is a fairly obvious reason why these questions are raised at this time. Kaiser-Frazer automobile company has been one of the most active pleaders for the idea that the Federal Reserve Board should relax its Regulation W restrictions on consumer credit. The purpose is naturally to enable more prospective Kaiser-Frazer customers to buy cars for less than one-third down and the balance in more than the former limit of 18 months or the new limit of 21 months.

This company and many others in the same boat make the argument that if they can't sell more cars on easier terms, more auto workers will have to be laid off. It is further maintained that increased unemployment will naturally add to the business decline, thereby offsetting the beneficial results of curbing inflation, which is what Regulation W was intended to do.

When people can't get what they want out of government, they naturally assume it isn't being run right and that there's something the matter with the people at the top. The usual technique of the Washington business representative in such a predicament is to start turning on the heat where he believes it will do some good. And in this kind of pressure cooking, nobody has greater four-burner skill than Henry Kaiser and his bright young men.

Understanding this background, consider a few of Chad Calhoun's pointed questions and a few possible answers obtained after consultation with people who should know, but naturally can't be identified or quoted on what are confidential matters.

Question—"Is there a terrific split in the (President's) Council of Economic Advisers—that is, (John D.) Clark and (Leon) Keyserling as (Chairman Edwin G.) Nourse?"

The answer seems to be "No!" They have their arguments on many subjects. But in everything they have announced thus far in their reports and in the President's program, they are apparently in unanimous agreement. On some subjects on which no official policy statement has been issued, there are unresolved differences of opinion. What makes it appear that the Council is split is Chairman Nourse's refusal to testify before Congressional Committees. He does this only because he considers himself a confidential adviser to the President.

QUESTION—"Do (Presidential Counsel Clark) Clifford, Keyserling and Clark have more influence over Truman than Snyder, Sawyer, et al.?"

Suggestions like this usually imply what many people have been led to believe—namely, that the President is a mass of dough which will retain the lasting impression of whatever fingers are stuck into him, farthest and oftenest. Men around Truman say nothing could be farther from the truth. They paint him as a fellow with ideas of his own, and awfully stubborn. What his advisers sometimes wish is that they could influence him more. Some of them have complained openly because they can't get the President to do what they want him to do. In short, the President is boss.

In this connection, a little noticed quotation from the President's recent speech before the National Planning Association is pertinent. "You know," said Mr. Truman, "they talk about the powers of the President of the United States. You know what those powers are, principally? Trying to get people to do what they ought to do without being asked to do it. The President spends most of his time kissing people first on one cheek and then on the other in order to get them to do what they ought to do without getting kicked."

mean so much!

On party-line telephones too . . . little courtesies make a big difference.

There's nothing difficult about party-line courtesy. You're courteous when you keep calls reasonably brief . . . when you space calls so that others may use the line in the intervals . . . and when you answer promptly.

These courtesies are returned, too. This means better service for all concerned!

Sarah Pellegrino
Becomes The Bride
of Joseph Frontera

Miss Sara Pellegrino became the bride of Joseph Frontera on February 19 in a double ring ceremony solemnized at 10 a. m. by Father M. E. Daley in Holy Redeemer church.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Pellegrino, 12 Schanz street, and Mr. Frontera is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Frontera, Clarendon.

Mrs. Thomas Donnelly presided at the organ to play the traditional wedding selections, including "Ave Maria," "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," "Mother, At Thy Feet Is Kneeling" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Pellegrino, given in marriage by her father, appeared in a gown of bridal satin designed with sweetheart neckline with seed pearl trim, Saxon pointed sleeves and a full skirt terminating in a train. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion fell from a tiara of orange blossoms and seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses arranged with satin streamers.

Mrs. Arthur Spadafor, of Erie, was her sister's only attendant. She wore a gown of gold metallic material, with matching mitts and headpiece, and carried yellow roses.

Mr. Spadafor accompanied the bridegroom as best man.

A wedding breakfast for the bridal party and immediate family was served in the home of the bride's parents, dinner was served at the Hotel Carver and the reception was held in the Pellegrino home.

For traveling, the bride chose a coral suit with brown accessories and a corsage of white roses. Upon returning from a wedding trip to Canada, the newlyweds will reside in Clarendon.

The bride is a graduate of Warren High School, and is employed by Sylvania Electric Company.

Mr. Frontera, who was also graduated from the local high school, is an employee of the Sherwood Packing Company. A veteran of World War II, he served with the U. S. Navy in the South Pacific for a period of 42 months.

Sheffield Girl Is
Washington Bride

Sheffield, Mar. 8—Miss Mary Ann Pellegrino became the bride of Walter Kozak on Saturday afternoon, February 26, at the St. Gabriel's Roman Catholic church, Washington, D. C.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Pellegrino, 320 West Main street, Sheffield, while the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kozak, Philadelphia.

Miss Rose Pellegrino attended as maid of honor, with John Kozak, Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla., serving his brother as best man.

The bride appeared in a street length dress of powder blue, with a corsage of orchids, and a street length dress of pink crepe was worn by the maid of honor, with black accessories, and a corsage of gardenias.

Following the ceremony, dinner was served to the bridal couple and immediate families. Upon their return from a southern honeymoon, they will reside at 604 Kennedy street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Attending from Sheffield, were Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Pellegrino, Anthony, Jr., and Miss Rose Pellegrino.

WNAE News Bureau

Station WNAE's News Bureau has added a new reporter to its staff, Mrs. Martha Hill Wilson, whose wide newspaper experience qualifies her for the task of gathering and writing for Warren listeners the news of the community. In order to bring the most complete coverage of events to its listeners, the station's News Bureau employs a staff of five reporters. These are augmented by the announcers, who broadcast news each week-day at 12:30 noon and 5:40 p. m. On Sundays, the news, plus a weekly roundup, is broadcast at 1:15 p. m.

Mrs. Wilson is a native of Warren. Her newspaper experience includes reporting and re-writing for the City News Bureau of Chicago, owned by Chicago's four leading papers. She also was a reporter for the Waukegan, Ill., "Post," the West Hartford, Conn., "Metropolitan News," the Pensacola, Fla., "News-Journal," the Myers Community papers of Chicago, and the Columbia, S. C., "Record." During the war, she spent a year editing the women's section of the Consolidated Vultee "News" at its San Diego, Calif., plant, which employed 40,000 aircraft workers. Her great-grandfather and grandfather were publishers of the old "Warren Mail," at one time a leading paper of the community.

Pauline Riquier-Martin K. Brown Wed
In Candlelight Rite In Grace Church

A very beautiful wedding took place in Grace Methodist church at two o'clock Saturday, February 26, uniting in marriage Pauline Riquier, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Riquier, and Martin K. Brown, of Lancaster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy S. Brown, of Paterson, N. J. Palms and baskets of snapdragons and Easter lilies provided a beautiful background for the double ring service read by candlelight by Rev. James J. Amlosky, assisted by Rev. Harold Knappenberg. Rev. Amlosky is a college friend of the bridegroom and is now a Presbyterian minister in South Amboy, N. J.

Prior to the ceremony, the church organist played "Largo" and "O Perfect Love," as well as the accompaniments for "I Love Thee," "I Love You Truly," and "Because." During the service, he sang softly "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her grandfather, W. C. Sizle, the bride was attractively gowned in white slipper satin fashioned with sweetheart neckline having seed pearl trim, a fitted bodice with sleeves pointed over the hands, and a full skirt ending in a long train. Her two-tiered fingertip veil fell from a satin crown finished with seed pearls and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, her gift from the bridegroom. Her arm bouquet was of white carnations.

Eileen Grey, as maid of honor, was gowned in light green taffeta, with matching mitts and headpiece, and carried an arm bouquet of yellow carnations. The bridesmaid, Janet Newburg, wore a similar gown of yellow taffeta, with matching mitts and headpiece, and carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations. Diane Sizle, cousin of the bride and flower girl, wore a frock of pink taffeta, with a wreath of pink rosebuds in her hair, and carried a basket of mixed pink and white flowers.

Richard Brown served his brother as best man and ushers were Richard Wilcox, of Easton, and Dwight Sizle. The former is a college friend of the bridegroom and the latter, an uncle of the bride.

The bride's mother chose a gown of navy and the bridegroom's mother wore aqua, each with a pink rosebud corsage.

A reception followed immediately in the church parlors for about 80 guests. A buffet table was arranged with a four-tier wedding cake as its centerpiece. Mrs. Dwight Sizle, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Howard Wilson, her cousin, served. Eugenia Price, in charge of the guest book, was assisted by Bobby Sizle, cousin of the bride. Guests were present from Paterson, South Amboy, N. J.; Jamestown, N. Y.; Easton, Clarendon, Sheffield and Kellettville.

For a wedding trip to Williamsburg, Va., the bride chose a brown check suit, green topper with brown accessories, and a red rose bud corsage.

The bride was graduated from Warren High School in the Class of 1944 and has been employed in the sales department of the New Process Company. Those who gave parties in her honor were Grace church choir, Loyalty Sunday School Class, Mrs. Earl Mohnkem, Mrs. Harold Demel, Mrs. Dwight Sizle, Miss Emily Corbett and Miss Julia Beyer, Miss Eileen Grey, Miss Janet Newburg and Miss Ruth Hockabone, and the sales department of the New Process Company.

Mr. Brown was graduated from Eastside High School in Paterson in 1943 and from Lafayette College in Easton in 1946. He is now employed as a manufacturing-development engineer in the Cathode Ray Section, RCA, at Lancaster.

GEORGE A. FILEGER

Corry Journal: George A. Fileger of 337 East Columbus avenue, died at this Corry Hospital late Sunday morning. He had been a patient there for the past three weeks.

Mr. Fileger was born in February 21, 1875, in Meadville, spent his early years there and then moved to Torpedo. He was married to Mary Christ at Jamestown on October 30, 1898. They lived for a time at Torpedo, then for several years in Erie and 18 years ago moved to this city where they have since resided.

The deceased was originally a rig builder in the oil fields but for the past 25 years worked as a salesman. Mr. Fileger had been in failing health for the past two years.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Fileger; two daughters, Mrs. Louis Miller of this city and Mrs. Frank Kenney of Erie; a son, Neil Fileger, at home; two brothers, Frank Fileger of Ferndale, Mich., and Adam Fileger, of Erie; seven grandchildren; and three great grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Bracken-Kesting Funeral Home and attend the service Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in the family lot at Pine Grove cemetery.

BURT A. WILLIAMS

Services in memory of Burt A. Williams, of Sheffield, were held at 3 p. m. Monday at the Peterson Funeral Home, conducted by Dr. H. H. Barr, retired Methodist minister. Bearers for interment in Sheffield cemetery were R. A. Steber, Myron Jewell, Grover Lind, and Charles Mathis.

Attending the rites were three cousins of Warren, Mrs. Hazel Peterson, Mrs. Charles McManis and Mrs. Earl Wilson; also Mrs. J. B. Stevenson, North Warren, and Mrs. Elizabeth Buzard, Falconer, N. Y.

Meeting Of Council Postponed a Week

The regular March meeting of the Warren borough council, scheduled for last night in the municipal building, was postponed until next Monday, March 14, at 7:30 o'clock.

Council President W. E. Rice said the postponement was necessary because a five-week period was needed in order to comply with the law on advertising a borough ordinance imposing a five-dollar per capita tax on all persons in the borough over 21 years of age. The ordinance will come up for final action at the meeting.

Advertisements also had been published asking for bids, to be opened last night, for a new police patrol car and a service car for the Parks Department. In order that these bids might still be legally opened on March 14 instead of last night, as advertised, President Rice appeared at the borough building at 7:30 o'clock and announced that "a quorum not being present, the meeting is adjourned until Monday, March 14, at 7:30 o'clock." Councilmen previously had been informed by postcard that the meeting would be postponed.

Train Victim May Be State Hosp. Patient

Authorities said today that there was a strong likelihood that a middle-aged man who was struck by an Erie Railroad freight train near Cherry Creek, N. Y., last night was a Warren State Hospital patient who has been missing from that institution since Sunday night.

The train crew said the man was walking along the tracks toward the train, and that they didn't see him until he was about three car lengths away. The injured man was taken to Cherry Creek, and later removed to the Jamestown General Hospital in an ambulance.

He suffered a fracture of the leg, lacerations of the scalp, shock and possible skull fracture. His condition was reported as "fair" today.

Hospital authorities said the only clue to the man's identification was a slip of paper found in his pockets on which was written the name, Edward Donahue.

Railroad officials checked with borough police here, who in turn learned that State Hospital officials had a 47-year-old St. Marys patient by that name had been missing since Sunday night when he disappeared from the Ryegate building, an open ward for male patients.

Removal will be made late this afternoon from the Templeton Funeral Home to the family home in Youngville and friends will be received there starting this evening. Services in his memory will be held from the home at 2:30 p. m. Thursday, the Rev. William A. Chamberlain, Jr., officiating, and interment following in the family plot in Youngville cemetery.

Approval was given a request for the a cappella choir to appear at the March meeting of College Club, also for the Beaty Rifle Club to attend a meet to be held at Wellsville, N. Y., March 19.

Warren E. Miller was given permission to attend a meeting in Philadelphia in connection with his post as president of the North-west District of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, and Dr. Whipple was authorized to attend a meeting of district governors of Rotary Clubs on April 28-29.

McClintock PTA was granted use of that building for a program on March 29 and use of Beaty gym for a Class C basketball playoff on Friday night was tentatively given.

The enrollment report for February, starting the second semester of the school year, showed 2,780 pupils in comparison with 2,644 last year. This actually represents no increase, however, but is occasioned by the presence of pupils who came here last fall from Pine Grove township, Clarendon and Kinzua.

Dr. Samuel Robbins, family relations expert, will be invited by the board, at a fee of $100, to speak to students on the mornings of May 2-6 on the topics of "Problems of Growing Up" and "Dating."

Considerable attention has been given by the board to the matter of establishing vocational guidance courses for boys in the high school but it was decided to defer further action until next year because of the building shortage, lack of funds and the apparent lack of interest on the part of the public in general.

Cafeteria expenses in the amount of $4,873.02 were approved, as were bills amounting to $10,344.67 from general funds and $1,760.62 from the activities accounts.

It was announced to the board that the senior class has selected Dr. Robert S. Steen, minister of the Chapter 22

THE ships were gone. Suspicion that Don Fernando had been up to something was certainly now. But what?

A door opened, and a giant of a man stood framed in the reflected square of light, then came striding across to them.

"Hello, Don," he boomed, welcome and relief in his voice. "I, Phil Ruden, am glad to see you back!"

"Why?" Rivers asked. "Something wrong?"

"Nothing, now that you're here," Ruden admitted, wiping off his hat with the sign of the two girls. "But it struck us kinda funny, rusin' the loadin' like we been doing, then both ships pullin' out, with no schillin' o' pay for any of us, as agreed on. But when we had word that you'd be here tonight to settle, we knew it was all right, of course."

So that was it. A second time Don Fernando was using him to rake chestnuts from the blaze. The loading, which had been supposed to start tomorrow, had been rushed during his absence. This was double-barreled, a swift change in whatever former plan he had had. Rivers' presence had made it necessary and feasible. To cheat everyone, and for their wrath to fall upon himself!

While angry men removed Rivers finally and completely from his path, Don Fernando figured to escape with the ships. These men were sure that there was only one Don Fernando Gonzales. Either he would pay them, or they would deal ungenially with him. Denial would only increase their anger.

A dozen men had joined Ruden now. But Don Fernando had overlooked one detail. Irene spoke blithely.

"What a lovely scoundrel of a brother I have!" Donna Dolores looked at her, shocked and questioning. Irene nodded her head at her.

"I DON'T mean what I seem to, you see?" she said. "But don't you love, and whom I admire, is not my brother, not Don Fernando Gonzales at all. He is the man who came to your rescue in St. Augustine. Because he looks like Fernando's twin, and being no Spaniard, was being hunted by the authorities, Don Fernando persuaded me to go on an unauthorized mission for him to New Orleans, rather than to be shot! Then he sent you on board the Lovely Maria, without telling Jean Rivers about it! For, though he is my brother, Don Fernando is a scoundrel!"

Here was the explanation which Rivers had dreaded. Donna Dolores looked startled, but there was no time for him to explain to her now. Those who surrounded them were puzzled also, but angry.

"What's this?" Ruden demanded. "You tryin' to make out that he ain't Don Fernando?"

"That's right," Irene agreed crisply. "Don Fernando is with the ships, and, it seems, safely away from here. Cheating all of us—using us as dupes!"

She turned, put an arm protectively about the shoulders of Donna Dolores.

"But don't worry," she said. "Jean Rivers is the man who loves you—as you love him. And he is a gentleman! The question is, what are we going to do?"

"That's a right good question, Lady." The big man shook his head, between admiration and bewilderment. "We was to be paid, tonight, for the cargo of them boats. You ain't got the money, eh—Mr. Rivers?"

Rivers shook his head. "That's a sizeable sum," he agreed. "Well," Ruden shook his head, between puzzlement and anger. "Sounds like you'd been made a

BOWLING

The Mountain Top tenpin squad, practicing for a date next month at the ABC tournament in Atlantic City, nudged Andy's Dandys on Penn slides by a 10-point margin in 2530 to 2520 scoring. Tony Fazio led the Mountain Toppers with 171-190-168-527, while F. Suppa was top scorer for the losers with 160-174-197-531.

Junior Pin Busters blasted the Penn Pin Setters, 1955 to 1705, in a four-man match game on Penn slides. C. Brown paced the winners with 191-165-169-525, while Joe Dangelo racked 133-154-165-452 for the Pin Setters. Scoring: Pin Busters...648 665 642-1955; Pin Setters...507 599 599-1705.

Stroehmans, Butter Krust and Glendora Coffey were dealocked for the lead position in the Men's City League today as the result of league action on Penn slides last night. Each of the three teams notched a 3-1 victory to make their record 25 wins and 15 setbacks. Individual scoring honors for the evening went to Barney Senger with 207-180-225-612 for Stroehmans; Harold Clepper with 233-183-192-610 for Butter Krust; and Harry Wooster with 209-199-194-602 for Warren Building Blocks.

Struthers Wells leap-frogged ahead of Brown's Boots to take second place in the Ladies City League race on Penn slides last night. Qualifying for scoring honors were Ann Lucia with 194-181-166-541 for Ann's Beauty Salon; Peg Finley with 176-202-156-534 for Struthers Wells; Bonnie Johnson with 201-171-148-518 for Walkers Creamery; and Bernice Thomas with 176-202-156-534 for Struthers-Wells.

The leadoff men waged a tight scoring duel as the Trevenens whitewashed Johnsons in Conewango Club tenpin league firing last night. N. Curbertson, toting a 575 aggregate on games of 162, 233, and 180, Richard Smith, first man up for the Johnsons, blazed away with a 212-197-148-552 series. Scoring: Trevenens...816 921 869-2603; Johnsons...808 785 808-2401.

Corry Faces Eagles In Playoff Tonight

Corry High Beavers and the Youngville Eagles will square off tonight on Warren's Beatty gym in a first round game of the PIAA District 10 Class B basketball playoffs.

The game will start at 8 o'clock, and there will be no preliminary.

Corry, competing for the first time in the Class B competition due to a change in school enrollment, topped Youngville twice during the regular cage campaign and is the heavy favorite to win tonight. Admission will be 75 cents. No play-by-play broadcast is planned by WNAE-FM.

Hogan hit the 600 mark on the nose (191-227-182) to lead Maders to a clean sweep of the match points over Crescent Florals in the big Elks Club tenpin wheel last night. Results of other matches showed: West Penn Oil 2, Smith's Lumber 2; and Lewis Market 4, Emblem Oil 0. Scoring:

Maders 833 828 845-2566

Gold Medal Cage Tourney Is Under Way At Sheffield

Consistent bowling which enabled him to sweep seven of the nine games won Jim Thomas the first "match game" championship fired on Penn alleys over the weekend.

Thomas outpointed three other top legiers—Harold Clepper, Norm Wooster and 1949 Singles Champion Harry Wooster—in a round robin series.

In a similar series for four Class B bowlers, Merle Sterling finished first in a "down to the wire" battle against Dick Bell, John Randinelli and Tony Fazio.

The eight qualified for the match game series in the recent Singles Championship tournament. The Peterson scoring system was used, which allows one point for each game won and one point for each 50 pins toppled.

Point scoring: (first figure is points on games won; the second is total pins toppled; the third is points for each 50 pins; and the fourth is total point score):

Jim Thomas, Merle Sterling Dinner Held Pace Field In Match Games By Cub Pack At Starbrick

Starbrick Cub Scouts of Pack 3 entertained their families and invited guests at their annual Blue and Gold dinner at the Town Barn, with about 75 in attendance.

Tables were arranged in T-shape and decorated in blue and gold streamers. The blessing was asked by Dennis Buertke and a welcome was extended by Robert Olson.

Speakers were Carl Roberts, Sr., superintendent of the Starbrick Sunday school and Don Lauffer, Scoutmaster from Warren and a former resident of Starbrick.

Group singing was enjoyed and Mrs. Albert Toner and Judy Toner entertained with several accordion selections.

A surprise feature of the dinner was the appearance of three cakes baked by Mrs. Henry Black, all decorated in blue and gold and designated for the pack and each den.

It was announced a pack meeting will be held in May, at which time badges and awards will be given.

Water used in photographic baths may be used over and over again if treated with certain resins to demineralize it.

Backstage Crews Ready Scenes For Players Club

Warren Players Club's annual studio plays production opens tonight at 8:30 at the Woman's Club Auditorium. All members are urged to attend, with no seat reservations necessary. A second performance will be given tomorrow night.

Two one-act plays are on the program, "Killing Doctor Kallidare," an original satire on hospital life, and "The Giant's Stair," which holds many tense and dramatic moments.

Joan Lavery is acting as program adviser for the studio plays production, with Marshall Morrow as the stage manager. In charge of the set for "The Giant's Stair" is Fred Emhardt, who, with his crew, is constructing a farmhouse kitchen as background for the play.

William Muir is head of set design for "Killing Doctor Kallidare," and an outline set simulating the typical hospital atmosphere is promised.

Those who have worked hard on set construction are Sylvester Mullen, Ed Africa, Gordon McLean and Glen Nelson. In charge of lighting is James Hess, while Robert Dewey will see to it that various sound effects are put into motion.

Ruth Bailey has the job of properties chairman, assisted by Doris Mavrellis, Mary Deet and Anne Harrington. Costumes chairman is Magda Panaritis, whose aides are Gertrude Neuman, Sylvia Salhoff and Jo Russo.

The make-up crew is headed by Lois Muir, assisted by Audrey Hill.

50th Anniversary of Arthur Fehlmans

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fehlmans, well known residents of Russell, will be honored guests on Friday of this week for an open house which will mark their golden wedding anniversary.

All relatives and friends of the couple are cordially invited to call between the hours of two and four in the afternoon and seven until nine in the evening.

The affair is being arranged by the couple's three children, Mrs. Allen VerMilyea, of Warren; Ross Fehlmans, of Corry; and Leighton Fehlmans, of Elmira, N. Y.

Beatrice Young and Arthur Fehlmans were united in marriage 50 years ago in Warren and have spent their entire lives in this section. Following a period of residence in Russell, they spent about 18 years in Corry, after which they returned to Russell and have remained there since.

They have many friends in Warren and surrounding towns who will join in extending congratulations on this anniversary and best wishes for many more.

Behind The Scenes Committees Busy For School Plays

Busy preparations are being made by members of the Warren High School Dramatic Club behind the scenes of this year's Evening of Plays before the curtain goes up in the high school auditorium Thursday, March 10.

Ruth Davis, Eugenia Price, Margie Ritchie, and Jane Rogers are scurrying about, hunting up costumes for gay senoritas and ancient temple priests.

Stage settings for a dark and gloomy English inn, for an old Mexican village, and for a modern home are being made by Mary Catherine Weber, Neil DeStefano, Bruce Forsgren, Charles Hutchings, and Ned Salerno.

Those giving the stage settings that realistic look with properties ranging from death-dealing knives to a colorful green and yellow vase are Elaine Bova, Jane Hill, Patty McCarthy, Helen McCune, Jean McDannel, and JoAnn Spatfor.

To make up the cast for their parts is the job of Marilyn Brasington, Jerry Lias, Jane Toner, and Lucy Trussler.

Jean O'Connor, Lillian Eustice, and Betty Scrivano are the business girls for this production.

Publicity is being handled by Marge Neuman and Jeannine Turner, of the news-writing class.

The advertising posters have been made by Alyson Leckliter, Marge Neuman, Rudy Ahlgren, and Neil DeStefano.

Day Of Prayer Observance Is Well Attended

The Interdenominational Mission Study Group sponsored the annual community World Day of Prayer observance in First Methodist church, with the First Evangelical United Brethren and the Trinity Memorial churches cooperating.

The program, presented by Mrs. Alan Templeton, opened with a fine devotional service given by Mrs. Guy McCloskey, who read the second chapter of Ezekiel and emphasized these three points: 1. "God said to stand upon thy feet and I will speak to thee." 2. "Son of man, be not afraid." 3. "Then I looked and a hand was stretched out to me."

The Warren High School a Cappella Choir, directed by Carroll Fowler, sang beautifully these numbers: "My God and I," by Sergei; "Go Not Far From Me, O Lord," by Morgan; "The Lord Bless You and Keep You," by Lutkin.

Mrs. Lida Caldwell Bean, of Greenville, gave a fine address in keeping with the day's theme, throwing out a challenge to the Christian women of Warren in the words "ye have not because ye ask not" and "life is not what it is, it is what you make of it. What you are is God's gift to you, what you make of it is your gift to Him."

The entire group was then invited to the social rooms for tea and the hostesses served a great number.

PLANS CHURCH NURSERY HOUR

Youngsville, Mar. 8—At a meeting of the Afternoon Group of the Methodist WSCS, held at the home of Mrs. H. H. Husted, plans were made for the sponsoring of a nursery hour at the 11 a. m. Sunday worship service. At this time small children will be cared for so that their parents may attend the morning service. Mrs. E. W. Chitester, Mrs. Guy Baumgardner and Mrs. Jasper Mead will be in charge of the new church project.

Plans were also discussed for the May dinner-meeting of the two groups of the WSCS at which time a missionary speaker is to be secured. The next regular meeting of the Afternoon WSCS will be held April 1 with Mrs. R. H. Knapp. A nominating committee was appointed to select officers for the coming year: Mrs. Arthur Briggs, Mrs. Frank Bauers and Mrs. Mark Shurwin. This committee is to report at the April meeting.

At the program period, two letters from New Mexico were read concerning work among the Navajo Indians. Appreciation was expressed for the two boxes of used clothing recently sent from the WSCS to the Indian workers located at Gallup, N. M. Miss Edith Husted showed some hand printed Japanese pictures recently received from Japanese by former pupils and friends of Miss Husted who are now doing religious work in Japan.

At the social period of the afternoon, refreshments were served by the hostess and committee from an attractive table, bright with flowers. Mrs. J. A. Sagerdahl poured. Over 30 were present at the meeting.

MISSIONARY CIRCLE

The Isabella Thoburn Missionary Circle of First Methodist church, held its March meeting in Dunham parlors of the church with 24 present. Miss Jo Bright led the devotions and read a most interesting paper, "Christ Crushed by the Crowd" by Dr. Bruce Wright. After a short business meeting Miss Ruth Bengston played two piano numbers—"Nocturne" by Chopin and "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer.

Mrs. R. R. Young then gave a short talk on the Virgin Islands and showed two strip films on the islands St. Croix and St. Thomas which were very informative and heartily enjoyed by the group. Tea was served from a beautiful table, decorated in a St. Patrick day motif.

CENTRAL UNION

Warren Central WCTU will hold its regular meeting at 2:30 p. m. Thursday in the First Methodist church, when Mrs. B. R. Erickson will be the devotional leader and Rev. Harold Knappenberg, pastor of Grace Methodist church, will be the speaker. Hostesses will be Mrs. Beattie Johnson, Mrs. B. H. Donovan and Mrs. C. W. Edgett.

DAR CHAPLAIN TO BE HONORED

Mrs. Warren R. Carlin, Conewango Place, who is state chaplain of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will be sharing honors with other officials in meetings of two down-state chapters this week. Leaving this morning, she will be the guest on Wednesday of the Yorktown Chapter and on
